CLASSROOM PRE-INSTRUCTION

In a quick write, write your first reaction to the task prompt. What strategies might you use to gain knowledge of the issue and form an opinion?

Short response

In your own words, write a brief explanation of what the task is asking you to do. What texts (nonfiction, informational, technical, data, maps) might you consider for this task?

Short constructed response

Create a project time line.

Time line

READING PROCESS

1) Identify sources you will use and note how each source relates to your task.

2) Note sources in bibliographic format (if applicable).

List or bibliography

In your notebook, identify key words or phrases as you read and define them denotatively and connotatively in context of the passage in the work you are reading. Add terms we identified as “the language of the discipline.”

Vocabulary notebook entries

Using a note-taking method, select information (passages, facts, data) relevant to the task; list (bullet) each source, and note relevant information.

L2 What strategies will you use to discern “credible sources”?

L3 Why is it important in the process of inquiry to identify “gaps” in or “unanswered questions” about the topic?

What does “plagiarism” mean and what strategies can you use to avoid it?”

Notes and short response

Prioritize relevant information in your notes on which to build your sequence or process.

Notes and graphic organizer
In a quick write, write about what you know now that you’ve read about _______(content). What strategies might you use to ensure your information is accurate?

Short response (with bullets) class work

WRITING PROCESS

Write a summary paragraph that includes a controlling idea and sequences the key points you plan to make in your composition.

Paragraph

Create an outline including key elements drawn from your reading or research and order them in some logical way (e.g., chronologically, sequentially).

Outline/Plan

Redraft an opening for your composition with one or more paragraphs that establishes the controlling idea and provides a lead-in for your reader.

Opening paragraph and first draft

Write an initial draft to include multiple paragraphs: an opening, development of your process, and an ending to include either a comment, a conclusion, or an implication.

Revised drafts (two or more)

Apply revision strategies for clarity, logic, language, and cohesion. [Students should do at least two drafts.]

Final draft

EVALUATION

The student work produced serves as a marker of learning progress and instructional effectiveness. If the student work does not meet expectations, then the teacher will want to repeat the module with different instructional strategies, texts, content, etc. A score that meets expectations tells teachers and students they have been successful.
